

Honesty is the key to success:

Moksh Patel Std. – 1-A

Hemik Chavda Std. – 1-B

Harneel Trivedi Std. – 1-B

Zia Shah Std. – 4-B

1. Moksh (Std IA), Hemik (Std IB), Harneel (Std IB) and Zia Shah (Std IV B) have demonstrated such a beautiful example of honesty at such an early age. They manifested that it is immaterial how small or big an amount could be, but if something belongs to others, it must be returned to them. We are really proud of our upcoming generations for displaying integrity and inspiring other kids.

Deanna Bhavsar Std. – 3-A

2. A little student Deanna of Std 3A proved that 'Honesty is far beyond friendship'. When a test was taken in class and there was peer assessment, her best friend asked her to mark a wrong answer correct. Deanna refused to make any changes in the correction and informed the teacher instead.

Liking towards a subject educates others:

Yug Patel Std. – 4-B

Yug of Std IVB likes the subject, Gujarati so much that whenever a new topic is introduced he prepares a chart relevant to it. This shows his eagerness to find new insights to excel in that particular subject.

Caring for others:

Shail Patel Std. – 5-A

Kavya Shah Std. – 5-A

Krisa Patel Std. – 7-B

Jaynee Shah Std. – 7-B

Shail and Kavya Shah (Std VA) and Krisa and Jaynee (Std VIIB) Have demonstrated their sense of solicitude for others by caring for their teachers and fellow friends whether it was closing the doors in chilly weather or bringing food for someone sick. This exhibits their true empathy towards others.

Sharing is caring:

Aksh Patel Std. – 6-B

Ravi Parikh Std. – 6-B

Megh Brahmbhatt Std. – 6-B

Aksh, Ravi and Megh Brahmbhatt of Std VIB showed their selfless behaviour by giving their handouts without any hesitation to the hostel students to prepare for the exam in the upcoming week. These kids have proved that they really are concerned and care for their peers.

Accept challenges:

Nishi Patel Std. – 6-A

Kosha Desai Std. – 6-A

Nishi and Kosha of Std VIA took up a challenge without even giving a second thought. A day before the book club meeting when two students backed out, these girls divided the topics amongst themselves, prepared and presented the topic excellently the next day. Their willingness and courage to accept challenges is appreciated.

Don't believe in rumors:

Jhalak Bhatia Std. – 7-A

Mahi Patel Std. – 7-A

Jhalak and Mahi of Std VIIA showed their sensibility and virtue by not reacting immediately to a girl who was trying to mislead them and cause chaos. Both the girls decided to go to their teacher and clarify the matter instead of blindly following wrong messages and carrying doubts in their minds.

Innovative initiative:

Kush Bajaniya Std. – 10-B

Prasham Gondalia Std. – 10-B

Shrey Patel Std. – 10-B

Atman Babaria Std. – 10-B

Kush Bajaniya, Prasham Gondalia, Shrey Patel and Atman Babaria of Std XB took up the initiative of conducting a quiz in Biology as part of revision. This was a commendable and innovative method of conducting revision.

Adaptability- A true virtue

Aditi Gupta Std. – 5-A

Adaptability is a virtue that is rarely observed in humans nowadays. We are proud of our student Aditi (Std VA), a new entrant who has accommodated herself wonderfully in a short period of time. We welcome her and appreciate her flexible and diligent nature.

Responsibility towards the class:

All the students of class 9thB displayed their sense of responsibility and initiation by taking up the initiative to decorate the outside soft board. Without being given any instructions by their teacher, they on their own distributed the work among themselves and decorated the board.
